EXT. MARIA'S APARTMENT'S WINDOW - NIGHT

A drooping dandelion sits in a glass next to an ashtray, which contains a smoldering cigarette butt.

MARIA (25), a kind and creative young woman, picks up the dandelion, gazes at the stars, and closes her eyes.

MARIA

I wish I could quit...

She gently BLOWS on the flower, causing its seeds to disperse into the night sky.

EXT. SKY - NIGHT

The dandelion's seeds float across the moonlit sky.

EXT. CIGARETTE FACTORY - LATER

The flakes fly above the gates of a bleak gray factory. A billboard reads: "WELCOME TO SMOKISS CIGARETTES INC.".

ON THE FACTORY ROOF

The seeds fly through a cloud of black smoke until one lone seed is drawn into the factory by a ventilator.

INT. CIGARETTE FACTORY - CONTINUOUS

The seed travels through greasy machines and conveyor belts transporting THOUSANDS OF CIGARETS... until it alights on a piece of paper carrying tobacco.

It gets pulled into a machine that spits out a CIGARETTE.

A pair of curious eyes blink open as a face appears on the cigarette. - The dandelion seed serves as its forelock.

We'll call him CIG.

A mechanical arm grabs him, and thrusts him and other cigarettes into a box.

Maria turns toward her "STOP-SMOKING" calendar on the wall. She takes a deep breath and puts him back inside the box.

Cig catches a glimpse at Maria leaning out the window and enveloped in smoke, but can't figure out what's going on.

Maria comes back toward him, tears off a page of the "Stop-Smoking" calendar and throws it in the trashcan.

QUICK MONTAGE BEGINS

- The box opens and closes repeatedly, as Cig anxiously watches Maria selecting other cigarettes instead of him.

- Frustrated, Maria bites her nails as she reads a book on how to quit smoking.

- Maria is back at reading and chews a pencil.

Cig looks around --where is she? Until Maria comes back from the kitchen, plunges on the sofa and turns on the TV.

Cig looks at her with admiration as she falls asleep.

Cig is lost in her beauty, until he's distracted by a DRAMATIC JINGLE from the TV.

ON TV:

A GIRL who's the same age as Maria smokes a cigarette in just one breath. As she consumes the cigarette, she begins to age and grow sick.

Large text repeats "CIGARETTES KILL".

Cig looks sad at Maria.

A HIGH-PITCHED SHRIEK startles him as a kettle whistles.

Maria wakes up, stretches her arms and looks at Cig.

She takes the box and moves toward the kitchen.

AT THE STOVE:

Maria puts the box on a shelf above the stove. She takes a cup and puts a tea bag inside.

He struggles to escape from the box.

Maria pours steamy water into the cup.

Cig notices a matchbook nearby. Oh-no!

Cig peeks and sees Maria smiling at him.
